

Libya rebels launch offensive on two fronts

Libyan opposition fighters appear to be slowly gaining ground in the west of the country, with a two-pronged offensive south and east of Tripoli against forces loyal to Muammar Gaddafi

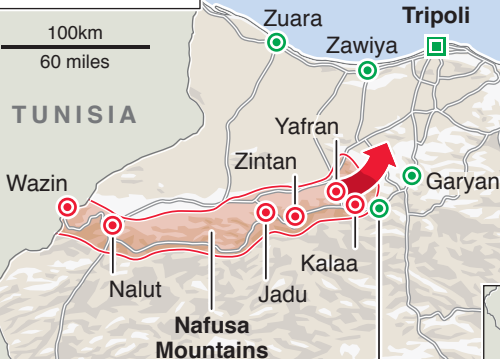

-  Gaddafi-held
-  Rebel-held
-  Rebel attacks

MEDITERRANEAN SEA

Misrata: Rebels say they have advanced about 20km and created “defensive arc” south and west of port city

100km
60 miles

TUNISIA

Gualish: Bolstered by recent French arms drops, hundreds of rebels advance on government-held village. Assault launched in coordination with NATO airstrikes

