

California's bridge between east and west

Outsourcing is taking on a whole new meaning in California as the state's biggest ever infrastructure project – the new San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge – prepares for its final delivery of steel girders, shipped more than 10,000km from China for assembly on the U.S. west coast

