

Famine spreading across southern Somalia

Famine has spread to three new areas within Somalia, with the entire south likely to be declared a famine zone within the next six weeks.

More than 12 million people have been affected by the worst drought in 60 years across the Horn of Africa

