

More oil found in Falklands field

A British company searching for oil off the Falkland Islands says it has made further significant finds and expects to start pumping by 2016.

The announcement will provoke controversy in Argentina which claims the islands, that it calls Las Malvinas, as its own territory

