

Bangkok hurries to build floods defences

Workers are racing to dredge canals and cut new waterways around Thailand's capital in an attempt to protect the city from the country's worst floods in decades. Over 280 people have been killed since July by floods and mudslides that have devastated rice crops and shut dozens of factories

