

Salvage crews continue ship clean-up

Oil is once again being pumped from the stricken container ship off New Zealand after efforts were hampered by two days of bad weather

