

Israel test fires missile that can hit Iran

Israeli defence officials say the military has successfully test fired an advanced missile from a base outside Tel Aviv. The test is reported to have involved a long-range Jericho missile capable of carrying a nuclear warhead and striking Iran

Israel is estimated to have about 100 Jericho 1 / 2 missiles in its arsenal. Long-range Jericho 3 is reported to be still in development

Source: Arms Control Association

*With 1,000kg warhead

© GRAPHIC NEWS