

Islamists lead Egypt vote

Egyptians are voting in two days of run-offs in the country's first parliamentary elections since the overthrow of Hosni Mubarak, with Islamist parties securing a majority of votes in the first round

Result of first round party-list vote

Share of 112 seats in parliament

Single winner races: 56 seats up for grabs – only four won outright in first round, remaining 52 to be decided by run-offs