

Salvage team to pump fuel from cruise ship

Dutch salvage experts SMIT plan to use “hot tapping” technology to remove more than 2,400 tonnes of heavy fuel oil, 200 tonnes of diesel oil and other lubricants located in the partly submerged Costa Concordia

