

Canada's quest to become an oil superpower

Canadian Prime Minister Stephen Harper is visiting China to discuss oil sales following U.S. President Barack Obama's rejection of a pipeline carrying Canadian oil across the continental United States

World's largest proven oil reserves (billion barrels, 2011)

