

North Korea prepares rocket launch

North Korea has announced it will launch a satellite aboard an Unha-3 rocket that U.S. and South Korean officials believe will really be a test of its longest-range intercontinental ballistic missile, the Taepodong-2

