

World powers eye emergency food meeting

G20 nations are to address soaring food prices after the worst U.S. drought in half a century devastated crops. The FAO's food index jumped 6% in July, higher than the food price crisis 2007-08, but still lower than the peak of February 2011

