

New Syrian opposition

PRESIDENT

Sheikh Ahmad Moaz al-Khatib, 52. Former imam of Umayyad Mosque in Damascus. Fled to Cairo in July after several periods of detention by Syrian authorities. Known as a moderate

VICE-PRESIDENTS

Riad Seif, 66. Veteran dissident freed in 2010 after years in jail for anti-government activities

Suhair al-Atassi, 41. Leading activist for women's rights. Arrested days after uprising began during protest in Damascus

■ National Coalition for Syrian Revolutionary and Opposition Forces: 60-strong body – 22 places for Syrian National Council, formerly recognised as main opposition. Representation for ethnic Kurds, Christians, Alawites, and women. Will also have military council that includes Free Syrian Army