

Today in History

November 28, 1919

▲ Nancy Astor, an outspoken American divorcee and prominent hostess for the social elite, became Britain's first woman member of parliament

1582: English playwright William Shakespeare married Anne Hathaway

2000: The Netherlands became the first country in the world to legalise euthanasia

2002: Al Qaeda attacks in Mombasa, Kenya, killed 15 people

2010: The website WikiLeaks and five major newspapers published detailed correspondences between the U.S. State Department and its overseas diplomatic missions