

Today in History

July 26, 1952

▲ Eva Peron, celebrated first lady of Argentina, died of cancer at the age of 33. Often referred to as Evita, she championed women's suffrage and labour rights

1875: Swiss psychiatrist Carl Gustav Jung was born. He introduced the concepts of introvert and extrovert personalities

1908: The Federal Bureau of Investigation was created in the U.S.

1928: U.S. film director Stanley Kubrick, best known films include "2001: A Space Odyssey", was born

1943: Rock'n'roll wild man Mick Jagger, lead singer and founder member of the Rolling Stones, was