

Statoil to build Arctic oil hub

Norwegian energy company Statoil has said that it plans to build a new oil terminal on the country's Arctic coast to process oil from a recent discovery in the Barents Sea

Skrugard / Havis fields: Thought to contain 400-600m barrels of oil

