

Andean volcano threat

Authorities in Chile and Argentina have issued a red alert and ordered the evacuation of 3,000 people living near the Copahue volcano, saying an eruption could be imminent

Copahue (2,997m): Red alert issued Dec 2012, after volcano spewed ash and gas plume 1.5km high