

Google set to debut Moto X smartphone

Internet giant Google is set to unveil its first foray into the smartphone hardware market with the launch of Motorola's Moto X device

Voice commands:

Similar to Google Glass, Moto X has "always-on" system

"OK, Google Now..."

... followed by command, will activate smartphone functions such as weather reports or setting alarms

Camera: 10MP, includes burst mode to take multiple shots in quick succession

Speaker

Flash

4.5in (114.3mm)

Operating System: Android 4.2.2

Customisation: Backplate options could include wood, metal, fabric and ceramic

Easy access: Quickly twist wrist twice to activate camera app for speedy snaps

Aug 15, 2011: Google buys Motorola for $12.5 billion

SMARTPHONE MARKET SHARE IN U.S. (% by manufacturer, as of May 13, 2013)

Chart data published: June 28, 2013 Picture: theunlockr.com

Sources: VentureBeat, PCMag, TechRadar, comScore MobiLens

© GRAPHIC NEWS