

Today in History

November 23, 1963

▲ The first episode of cult British show Doctor Who was broadcast. It is the world's longest-running science fiction TV show, and is shown in more than 50 countries

1859: Notorious outlaw Willam H. Bonney, alias Billy the Kid, was born

1983: The Soviet Union walked out of arms limitation talks in Geneva in protest at the deployment of U.S. Cruise missiles in Europe

1997: One of the world's biggest securities houses, Japan's Yamaichi Corporation, went bankrupt

2009: The world's largest mass immunisation against yellow fever began, targeting 12 million in Africa