

Australia Blue Mountains fires could merge

Three bushfires in New South Wales could merge to form one massive “mega-fire”, threatening at least seven communities. State fire services are fighting 76 fires – seven of them classified as out of control – in the Blue Mountains, Central Coast and areas south of Sydney. More than 200 homes have been destroyed

