

Israel said to be planning Jordan gas pipeline

Israel's Ministry of Energy is reportedly planning to build a pipeline from the Dead Sea region to export natural gas to Jordan. Work on the 15km link is expected to start in 2015 and be complete by 2016

New pipeline would be extension of existing link that serves Israeli chemical plant in Sdom, and would power potash plant in Safi on Jordanian side of Dead Sea, according to Bloomberg reports
