

Today in History

March 15, 1964

▲ Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton were married in a low-key ceremony in Canada, three years after meeting on the set of the Hollywood movie Cleopatra

44BC: Roman Emperor Julius Caesar was stabbed to death on the Ides of March by a group of senators led by Brutus and Cassius

459: Attila the Hun, one of the most feared enemies of the Roman Empire, died from a nose bleed

1994: An asteroid came within 100,000 miles of earth, a cosmic near miss

1996: Pioneering Dutch aviation firm Fokker NV collapsed, ending 77 years of aircraft making in Holland