

Where Europe gets its gas

Russia is Europe's biggest supplier of natural gas, providing some 30% of the continent's needs. Europe also imports gas through pipelines from Norway and Algeria as well as liquefied natural gas from Qatar

