

Fukushima evacuees return to no-go zone

For the first time since Japan's nuclear disaster in March 2011, authorities are allowing residents to return to live in their homes within part of the 20km no-go zone around the Fukushima plant

