

Android smartwatch launching soon

Google will demonstrate its smartwatch Android Wear operating system at the forthcoming Google I/O technology conference in San Francisco

Google working with technology partners such as Motorola – makers of Moto 360 smartwatch

Individual style: Wearer can select different watch face styles

Price:
$249.99
Available:
July

Interchangeable watch bands

android wear

Voice-control to send messages and search internet. Touch input to scroll screen images. Receive live maps, reminders, sports results, weather reports

Apple iWatch, rumoured to be very similar to Moto 360, may launch in September

Display: AMOLED (active-matrix organic light-emitting diode) allows black pixels to be turned off – crucially saving power

ONE PIXEL
RGB organic polymer

Transparent cathode

TFT matrix:
Can turn individual pixels on and off

Anode

Supporting substrate

Sapphire glass:
Only diamond is tougher

Hi-res AMOLED screen

Circuitry:
Bluetooth links to Android devices

Induction coil: For wireless charging

Battery

Microphone

Strap attachment

