

Fears grow of global Ebola outbreak

Several West African airlines have stopped flying to Liberia and Sierra Leone amid concerns about the spread of the disease following the death in Nigeria of an infected man who had flown from Liberia

