

New species of frog found in New York

Scientists have confirmed that a frog found living in wetlands in New York City is a new species, the first found in the region for 30 years

View of Manhattan
from Staten Island
Ferry

Jeremy Feinberg, of Rutgers University, first reported discovery in 2012 when he heard odd, short and repetitive croak on Staten Island

LEOPARD FROG HABITAT

- Rana kauffeldi* (new)
- Rana sphenoccephala
- Rana pipiens
- Undetermined

New species
of leopard frog,
Rana kauffeldi
(male pictured)