

Today in History

December 27, 2007

▲ Pakistan's former Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto, the first woman prime minister of an Islamic state, was assassinated in a suicide attack in Rawalpindi

1904: The first performance of J.M. Barrie's classic play Peter Pan took place in London

1989: Egypt and Syria resumed full diplomatic relations after 12 years

1996: Rwanda's first genocide trial, for the slaughter in 1994 of some 800,000 Tutsis, began

2009: A tomb believed to be that of Cao Cao, a renowned third century Chinese warlord, was unearthed in Henan province in central China