

Today in History

June 4, 2011

▲ China's Li Na became the first Asian tennis player to win a Grand Slam singles title. Her victory at Roland Garros was watched by 330 million people worldwide

1844: Scientists in Iceland sighted a Great Auk, a large, flightless bird thought to have been extinct

1937: The supermarket trolley made a first appearance at a store in the U.S. state of Oklahoma

1940: The evacuation of allied forces from Dunkirk was completed

1994: Bangladesh ordered the arrest of writer Taslima Nasrin after she told a newspaper that the Koran should be "thoroughly revised"