

Japan fighter scrambles at Cold War levels

The number of scrambles by Japan's warplanes has surged in recent years to levels nearly matching the Cold War era amid growing activity by China and Russia in the region

Tupolev Tu-95 "Bear": Russian strategic bomber

