

Google

Today in History

June 7, 2005

▲ Internet search engine Google saw its valuation top $80 billion, making it the world's most valuable media company, ahead of Time Warner and Disney

1905: Sweden and Norway ended their union with a Treaty of Separation

1960: American singer-songwriter Prince was born as Prince Rogers Nelson in Minneapolis, Minnesota

1981: Israeli warplanes destroyed the Osirak nuclear reactor in Iraq to prevent any possibility of it being used to make nuclear weapons

1990: South African President F.W. De Klerk lifted the country's four-year-old state of emergency