

U.S. train derailment

A passenger train headed from Washington to New York has derailed in Philadelphia, killing at least six people and injuring dozens of others

May 12, Frankford Junction

Amtrak train carrying 243 people derails. Rescue teams still looking for trapped passengers

