

Syrian Kurds seize key IS-held border town

Kurdish fighters have taken full control of the border town of Tal Abyad, dealing a major blow to the so-called Islamic State group's ability to wage war in Syria by cutting a vital supply line to its Raqqa stronghold

Jun 16, Tal Abyad: Kurdish fighters, along with Free Syrian Army contingent, seize border crossing. Move deprives Islamic State (IS) group of direct route for bringing in foreign militants and supplies, and links two Kurdish fronts
