

China pushes yuan to four-year low

China's currency fell sharply for a second day as the People's Bank of China set its daily fix for the yuan to 6.33 to the U.S. dollar – 1.6% weaker than Tuesday's fix, which in turn was 1.9% weaker than Monday's

Chinese yuan to US$

Scale inverted to show fall of yuan – also known as renminbi