

Greece's snap election too close to call

Recent polls show Greece's leftist Syriza party neck-and-neck with the opposition New Democracy. If neither side wins enough seats to form a government alone, a coalition will be needed to prevent a new election

