

Russia fires missiles at targets in Syria

A barrage of cruise missile strikes conducted by Russian warships in the Caspian Sea marks the combat debut of the long-range Kalibr-NK, equivalent to the U.S. Tomahawk system

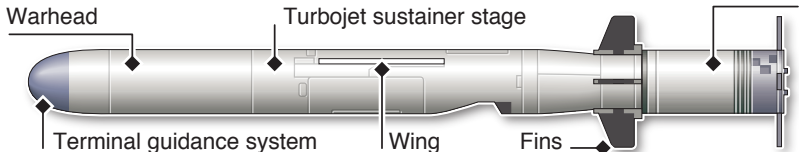

3M14TE KALIBR-NK (NATO codename SS-N-30A)

Warhead

Turbojet sustainer stage

Rocket booster stage

| | | | |
|----------------|----------------------|-----------------|-----------|
| Missile length | 8.2m | Speed | Mach 0.8 |
| Maximum range | 2,600km | Flight altitude | 50m |
| Warhead | 400kg high explosive | Target accuracy | Within 3m |