

FIFA's five presidential candidates

FIFA integrity checks have cleared just five candidates to stand in the February 26 election to replace Sepp Blatter as president

■ Prince Ali bin

Al Hussein (39)

Jordan

Reformist, took Blatter into second round of voting in May 2015 election

■ Jerome Champagne (57)

France. Former FIFA deputy to Blatter, failed to receive required nominations in May

■ Gianni Infantino

(45) Switzerland. While

UEFA chief Michel

Platini remains under investigation, General Secretary will be European favourite

■ Tokyo Sexwale (62)

S. Africa. Politician, businessman, jailed for 13 years on Robben Island during apartheid

■ Sheikh Salman bin

Ebrahim al Khalifa

(49) Bahrain. Widely supported in Asia but critics question his human rights record

CONFEDERATIONS

Member nations (1 vote each) 209

CONCACAF 35 6 non-FIFA members have no vote

North and Central America

53 UEFA

Europe

CONMEBOL 10

South America

