Spain's governing party loses majority

Spain's governing Popular Party has won the most seats in the general election but has lost its majority and must now try to form a coalition

Partido Popular (PP) Centre-right party of Prime Minister Mariano Rajoy, in power since Dec 2011

Socialist Party (PSOE) Centre-left party of opposition leader Pedro Sanchez

Podemos "We can" Anti-austerity party led by left-wing university professor Pablo Iglesias

Ciudadanos "Citizens" Centrist, market-friendly party led by 36-year-old lawyer Albert Rivera

Result with 99.4% of vote counted

*Turnout: 73%

90 22%

69 20.6%

123 seats 28.7% of vote

40 13.9%

Others

28

CONGRESO DE LOS DIPUTADOS 350 seats