

Today in History

January 21, 1976

▲ Supersonic passenger travel began as the first scheduled flights on Concorde took off simultaneously from Paris to Rio de Janeiro and London to Bahrain

1911: The first Monte Carlo rally began

1924: Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, who led the Bolsheviks to victory in Russia's October Revolution, died

1996: British fashion designer John Galliano presented his first haute couture collection for Paris fashion house Givenchy

2008: A woman thought to be the last native speaker of the Eyak language in the U.S. state of Alaska died aged 89, rendering the language extinct