

Today in History

April 16, 1746

▲ English forces defeated the Jacobite Scots, led by “Bonnie Prince Charlie”, at Culloden, leading to the suppression of highland culture and clan system

1943: A Mexico court sentenced Jacques Monard to 20 years in jail for the murder of Leon Trotsky

1947: The phrase “Cold War” was coined to describe the relationship between the U.S. and Soviet Union

1990: Jack Kevorkian, known as “Doctor Death”, participated in his first assisted suicide

2002: The entire Dutch government resigned after failing to prevent the Srebrenica massacre in Bosnia