

Canadians flee wildfire

A huge wildfire, fuelled by soaring temperatures and tinder-dry forest, has forced the evacuation of the entire population of the Canadian city of Fort McMurray - more than 60,000 people

