

PGA Championship at Baltusrol

New Jersey's Baltusrol Golf Club should prove a big challenge for the 98th PGA Championship, with its Lower Course stretched to 7,462 yards – an increase of 70 yards since it last hosted the event in 2005. Playing as a par-70, the course boasts long par-4s and par-3s, culminating in a finish of back-to-back par-5s

LOWER COURSE

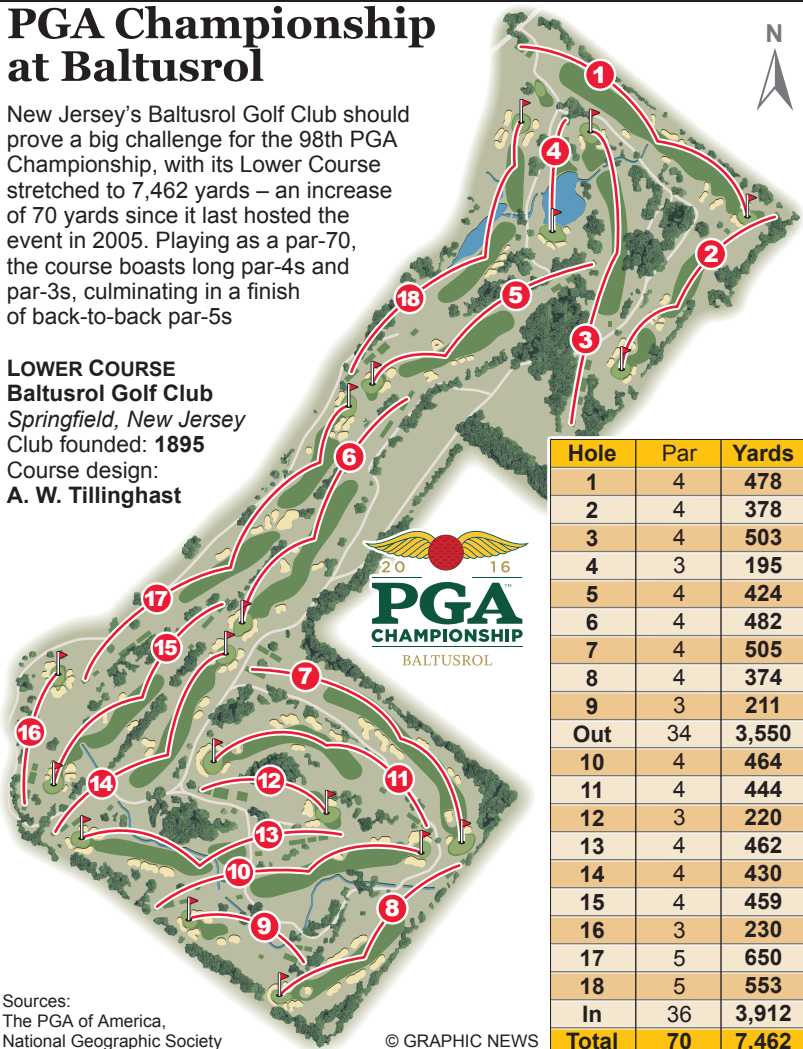

Baltusrol Golf Club

Springfield, New Jersey

Club founded: 1895

Course design:

A. W. Tillinghast

Hole	Par	Yards
1	4	478
2	4	378
3	4	503
4	3	195
5	4	424
6	4	482
7	4	505
8	4	374
9	3	211
Out	34	3,550
10	4	464
11	4	444
12	3	220
13	4	462
14	4	430
15	4	459
16	3	230
17	5	650
18	5	553
In	36	3,912
Total	70	7,462

Sources:
The PGA of America,
National Geographic Society

© GRAPHIC NEWS