

Russian emigration soaring

Russian government statistics show a sharp upturn in emigration since 2011, with the current wave including many highly skilled workers whose loss will hamper the Russian economy for years to come

400,000 people

