

Age of the female leader

Two of the world's five biggest economies now have a female leader. Women-led nations currently produce 15% of global GDP – but this will rise to almost 40% if Hillary Clinton becomes U.S. president

Angela Merkel
Germany

Theresa May
United Kingdom

Erna Solberg
Norway

Dilma Rousseff
Brazil – powers suspended in May 2016

Park Geun-hye
South Korea

Hillary Clinton
Democratic nominee in U.S. presidential election

Michelle Bachelet
Chile

Other leaders (excluding monarchs)

Bahamas: Dame Marguerite Pindling

Bangladesh: Sheikh Hasina Wajed

Croatia: Kolinda Grabar-Kitarovic

Grenada: Dame Cécile La Grenade

Beata Szydlo
Poland

Liberia: Ellen Johnson Sirleaf

Lithuania: Dalia Grybauskaitė

Tsai Ing-wen
Taiwan

Malta: Marie-Louise Coleiro Preca

Marshall Islands: Hilda Heine

Mauritius: Ameenah Gurib-Fakim

Namibia: Saara Kuugongelwa-Amadhila

Nepal: Bidhya Devi Bhandari

Saint Lucia: Dame Pearlette Louisy