

Muhammad Ali auction

Muhammad Ali's "Rumble in the Jungle" championship belt and a letter confirming his conversion to Islam were among items auctioned on September 10, in the biggest such sale since Ali's death in June

1962: Cassius Clay signed photograph

Sold for $5,019

1964: Cassius Clay letter explaining his conversion to Islam

$131,450

Miami Florida Feb. 1864
I believe in the Religion of Islam which means: I believe there is no God but Allah, and that Mahammad is His apostle, This is the same religion that is believed in by over 750 Millions of our people through out Africa and Asia. and 750 Millions is about 4 times as many people as there are in America. Sincerely
yours
Howard L. Bingham
Marc Crawford
B. Bingham
Attorney

1981:
Last mouth guard ever worn by Ali, from Trevor Berbick fight

 1974: Muhammad Ali WBC Heavyweight Championship belt earned in victory over George Foreman in "Rumble in the Jungle"

◀ 1974: “Rumble in the Jungle” ticket (and programme)

$4,302

$5,975

1975: Ali fight-worn shoes from Chuck Wepner bout

$77,675

$35,850

1964: Sonny Liston's fight-worn gloves from bout he lost to Cassius Clay – who became Heavyweight Champion