

Today in History

November 22, 1986

▲ Mike Tyson, aged 20, became the youngest world heavyweight boxing champion in history when he knocked out Trevor Berbick in the second round

1991: Egypt's deputy Prime Minister, Boutros Boutros Ghali, was chosen to succeed Javier Perez de Cuellar as UN secretary-general

2001: The Prost Grand Prix team went bankrupt

2001: Pope John Paul II sent the first official papal e-mail from a laptop in his office in the Vatican

2015: A 41-year-old female northern white rhino died, leaving only three of her species alive in the world