

U.S. facing surge in illegal immigration

Central American nations are warning that large numbers of migrants are fleeing their poor, violent homes after Donald Trump's surprise election win, hoping to reach the U.S. before he takes office in January

