

Today in History

January 31, 2007

▲ Archaeologists announced the excavation of the largest Neolithic settlement discovered in Britain, a 4,600-year-old village used by the builders of Stonehenge

1917: In World War I, Germany instituted a policy of unrestricted submarine warfare

1918: The Soviet Union used the Julian calendar for the last day, adopting the Gregorian calendar

1992: Dealers used the trading floor of the London stock exchange for the last time

2007: India's TATA Steel bought the Anglo-Dutch Corus Group to become the world's fifth largest steel maker