

Today in History

March 10, 1977

▲ The rings of Uranus were discovered when dips in the brightness of a star were spotted before and after the body of the planet passed in front of it

1952: The government of Cuba was overthrown by former president Fulgencio Batista

1969: James Earl Ray was sentenced to 99 years in jail for the murder of Martin Luther King

1995: Spain sent a gunboat to protect its trawlers fishing in international waters off Canada

2003: After six months of civil war, Seydou Diarra became premier of Cote d'Ivoire