

Iraqi forces reach key Mosul bridge

Iraqi forces claim to have taken control of the western side of a bridge that would link the government-held eastern bank with the ongoing offensive against remaining Islamic State militants in the west

